Bible Lesson

GOD JUDGES THE NATIONS AT BABEL GENESIS 11:1-9

After the flood, God had told Noah, "Spread out your children and grandchildren over the entire earth." God wanted people and animals to be everywhere on the earth, but some of Noah's grandchildren had a big "no" in their hearts. They said to one another, "Let's not spread out like God said. Let's stay together and build a big tower that will give us great power." They wanted to make themselves into a big city with a great name, without God.

The "no" in their hearts came from pride. Pride is when we think we are better than God. Do you think you are better and more powerful than God? That is just what we think when we say "no" to God.

They decided to build a great tower that reached up into heaven. They wanted everyone to think they were special. But they should have spread out. They should have told everyone else how awesome God was.

Their pride made them disobedient. They wanted their own way and not God's way.

God saw what the disobedient people were doing. God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit talked to one another and said, "Noah's grandchildren are disobeying Us. They want to build a great city and make a great name for themselves without Us. Let's confuse their words so that they can't understand one another. Then they will spread out over the earth." God changed the words that came from the people's mouths so that they couldn't understand what the other person was saying.

People in one family couldn't talk with people in another family. The people were getting more and more frustrated trying to build the tower. Finally they gave up and moved their families away. The Lord spread them out over the whole earth, just like He had said. Now the name of the city is Babel.
